Not only is it important to successfully implement our solutions, it is equally important to monitor and supervise the process in order to ensure its long-term success.